JOSEPH GIULIETTI, PRESIDENT OF METRO-NORTH RAILROAD, TO ADDRESS POST ON WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 22, 2015 AT THE HARVARD CLUB

Joe Giulietti recently took the reins as President of Metro-North at a critical moment. Joe began his railroad career as a brakeman and assistant conductor on the Penn Central Railroad, and has honed his operational and leadership skills through positions of increasing responsibility. Joe faces the immediate challenge of quickly focusing on enhancing Metro-North's strong operational standards and safety practices, while continuing to develop the railroad's future as a critical link in the region's transportation system and economy.

Giulietti began his career in 1971 with Penn Central while attending Southern Connecticut State University, where he received his bachelor's degree in history and English. In 1978 he became a road foreman with Conrail, where he advanced to become assistant manager for operating rules. He joined the newly-formed Metro-North in 1983 as superintendent of transportation, and later became engineer of track for the Harlem and Hudson lines, assistant director of transportation and schedule coordination, and director of a project to reduce operational inefficiencies and increase productivity.

Giulietti joined the agency now known as the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority in 1998 as deputy executive director and was named executive director two years later. The authority operates the Tri-Rail commuter rail system through Palm Beach, Broward and Miami-Dade counties, as well as other regional transportation services.

Metro-North employs more than 6,000 employees and runs a network of more than 700 miles of track on five main lines and three branches across nine counties and two states. The landmarked Grand Central Terminal is its flagship station.
